- How often do new events start and end? Are there seasons where the center is closed?

  We run throughout the year although during the PEAK monsoon we are sometimes closed for a few days or few weeks if there are no bookings as this is a very low tourist season. Peak monsoon is June - July.

  Seems better to change to monsoon is June - August? For me this is the off season - thoughts? - Tim

Yes the max students we take for Teacher Training courses (200 hrs and 300hrs) is 5. Our maximum capacity is 10 for drop in students and short courses with some sharing of rooms.

- Are prices firm or on a sliding scale? Adults? Kids? Seniors? I've seen reference to sliding scale, and different prices for more days and/or people (Treks)

For treks the pricing should be as indicated already. The price changes for more days and/or people.
We don't have a sliding scale policy, seniors are the same price. Adults with kids can contact us as we may be able to offer a reduction for families with young children.

- Do we have enough photos where we could have a gallery for each type of course, retreat, trek, training and class?

Answered Questions:

- Describe differences in courses, trainings, retreats, classes, services, how many events landing pages would we need? This is very confusing. Landing-page events should have multiple dates that are available to book/purchase through the site? Do these have start date and an end date, do they recur or repeat, are they daily, weekly, monthly, etc.?

- There are all of these things. Courses are defined below, as are retreats. Classes are reoccurring non-residential activities open to the public at regular times.

{Devika}

1. Courses & Trainings

These are structured learning programs that require commitment and often result in certification (like our 200-Hour Yoga Teacher Training). They're typically one-time events or offered several times per year, but they don't repeat frequently.

- Key Features:
  - Fixed start and end dates.
  - They are typically non-recurring (e.g., a course may run only once every few months or a few times per year).
  - Include detailed information about the curriculum, instructors, and the skills students will gain.
  - Option for online booking for the whole course at once (or with payment plans).
- Landing Page:
  - Each course or training (like a yoga teacher training or an advanced yoga course) will need a dedicated landing page with:
    - Course dates and availability.
    - A detailed breakdown of the curriculum, daily schedule, and required commitment.
    - Pricing options.
    - Registration or application form for students to sign up.
    - Payment options for the course.
  - Example:
    "Our 200-Hour Yoga Teacher Training runs from March 1st to March 23rd, 2024. The next session will begin on September 1st, 2024. Apply now to reserve your spot!"

---

2. Retreats

Retreats are immersive wellness experiences that focus on relaxation, rejuvenation, and self-care. These often take place in scenic locations like Pokhara, and they can include yoga, meditation, detoxing, nature hikes, and wellness activities.

- Key Features:
  - Fixed dates for each retreat.
  - Typically, last 3-7 days (but could vary).
  - Food, accommodation, and wellness activities are included in the price.
  - Non-recurring but could be offered several times per year.
- Landing Page:
  - A retreat-specific landing page should include:
    - Dates for each retreat session.
    - Location and accommodation details.
    - A full schedule of the retreat's activities.
    - Pricing and what's included (e.g., meals, yoga, accommodations).
    - Registration or booking option for guests.
  - Example:
    "Join us for a 5-day Yoga and Meditation Retreat from April 10-14, 2024 in Pokhara. Experience daily yoga, delicious organic meals, and a stunning view of the Annapurna Mountains. Early bird registration is open now!"

3. Classes

Classes are recurring and non-residential activities that take place at regular intervals. These are designed for the public and allow people to drop in and take a class without committing to a full course or retreat.

- Key Features:
  - Recurring classes (e.g., daily, weekly, or bi-weekly).
  - Typically 1-2 hours per class.
  - Open to the general public with the ability to book for individual sessions.
  - Not tied to accommodations or long-term commitments.
- Landing Page:
  - A class-specific landing page that lists:
    - Times and dates for each class.
    - Class descriptions (e.g., Vinyasa yoga, Hatha yoga, or Restorative yoga).
    - Pricing for individual sessions or packages (e.g., 10-class pass).
    - Booking system for each class (with options to book individual classes).
  - Example:
    "Our Vinyasa Yoga class is held every Monday and Thursday at 6:00 PM. Sign up for a single session or purchase a 5-class pass for 20% off!"

4. Services

Services include individual wellness offerings, such as private yoga sessions, massage therapy, and healing services. These are typically tailored to individual needs and booked by appointment.

- Key Features:
  - Personalized attention.
  - Available by appointment.
  - Can be available at any time (not tied to a fixed schedule like classes or courses).
- Landing Page:
  - A services page that highlights each available service (e.g., private yoga, massage, shamanic healing):
    - Clear descriptions of each service.
    - Pricing for individual sessions.
    - Booking system for scheduling private sessions.

    - Example:
      "Book a Private Yoga Session with our experienced instructor, tailored to your personal needs. Sessions available by appointment. Pricing starts at $60/hour."

5. Event Landing Pages: How They Should Work

Each event or offering should have a separate landing page that describes the activity and allows visitors to book or purchase the experience. Here are some key points to consider for each type:

- Fixed Dates:
    - For courses, trainings, and retreats, include specific start and end dates. These should be non-recurring and only appear on the website when they are available.
    - Example: "Our 200-Hour Yoga Teacher Training begins on March 1st, 2024, and runs through March 25th, 2024."
- Recurring Events:
    - Classes are recurring events. You can set these up to be weekly, bi-weekly, or monthly, depending on how often they occur. It's useful to display all available dates for classes and allow for booking specific sessions.
    - Example: "Join us every Monday and Thursday at 6:00 PM for Vinyasa Yoga."
- Booking Options:
    - Include a simple booking system on each landing page for users to reserve their spot. You can offer options for single-session bookings (for classes) or full-program bookings (for courses and retreats).
    - Example: "Click below to reserve your spot in the 5-Day Yoga Retreat."
- Recurrent or One-Time Events:
    - Make sure the event type is clearly indicated. If it's a one-time event (like a course or retreat), make it clear in the landing page heading (e.g., "Register for Our March 2024 Yoga Retreat").

- If it’s recurring, indicate the frequency (e.g., "Join our Weekly Vinyasa Yoga Class every Monday and Thursday").

Summary: Event Structure for Your Website

- Courses & Trainings: Structured, fixed date events that don’t occur frequently. Dedicated landing pages with start/end dates, curriculum, pricing, and registration.
- Retreats: Immersive, non-recurring events with set dates. Landing pages with details on location, schedule, pricing, and booking.
- Classes: Recurring, non-residential events with regular scheduling. Landing pages with class times, descriptions, pricing, and booking options.
- Services: Tailored, one-on-one offerings. Service pages with descriptions, pricing, and booking forms.
- Booking System: Simple, user-friendly booking options on each landing page to reserve spots for classes, courses, retreats, or private sessions.

- Where should we put classes on the site? Are there classes at different locations (sound healing versus yoga)?
  - We could put repeating classes on the home page. Apparently, there are no longer classes at different locations post-Covid.

- What is a retreat?
  - According to the internet, a retreat typically offers a holistic, immersive experience focused on relaxation, meditation, and personal growth over multiple days, often in a specific, tranquil location. It emphasizes disconnecting from daily life to engage in deeper self-care or spiritual practices, often with lodging and meals provided.

- What is a course and how does it differ from a retreat?
  - In this context, a course, on the other hand, is structured for skill acquisition or knowledge-building, such as yoga teacher training. It's more focused on education and skill development, with clear learning objectives, and can span several sessions or weeks with a set curriculum.
- What is a trek? How does it differ from courses and retreats?
  - A trek is a guided travel adventure comprising hiking and yoga. Guide and yoga instruction are provided. Food and accommodations not included in the price.

What is Trekking in Nepal?

Trekking in Nepal refers to a guided journey through the country's diverse landscapes, often through rugged mountains, valleys, and rural villages. It is an adventure that combines hiking with the possibility of incorporating yoga along the way for mindfulness and physical well-being.

A trek typically involves:

- Guided Hiking: You'll be accompanied by a knowledgeable guide who will lead you through various trails, offering insights into the natural beauty, culture, and history of Nepal.
- Yoga: Many treks offer yoga sessions to enhance your experience. These sessions are usually designed to complement the physical demands of trekking, helping with flexibility, strength, and relaxation.
- Physical Activity: Trekking is more physically demanding than a retreat or course. It involves walking long distances, often in high altitudes, and requires a good level of fitness.

- Adventure: Treks often explore remote and less-visited areas of Nepal, offering a unique opportunity to experience the country's natural beauty in a very immersive way.

. It’s an adventure-focused experience, with a blend of physical challenge and spiritual growth through yoga.

How Does Trekking Differ from Courses and Retreats?

While trekking is an adventure that combines hiking with yoga, courses and retreats are more focused on learning and personal development. Here’s how they differ:

Yoga Courses

A yoga course typically involves structured classes designed to teach you yoga in-depth. This can range from beginner to advanced levels, often leading to a certification (like 200-Hour Yoga Teacher Training). Key features of courses include:

- Structured Learning: Courses are focused on the theory and practice of yoga, often including anatomy, philosophy, and meditation.
- Classroom-Based: Classes are usually held in a stable environment such as a yoga studio or retreat center. You are not moving from place to place, and there is less physical activity compared to trekking.
- Yoga Focused: While trekking involves hiking and physical endurance, yoga courses are centered around deepening your practice and learning to become a teacher or more advanced practitioner.

Yoga Retreats

A yoga retreat is an immersive experience where participants focus on yoga, meditation, and wellness in a peaceful and often remote setting. It differs from trekking in the following ways:

- Relaxation and Healing: Retreats are about relaxation, detoxing, and rejuvenation, with a combination of yoga, meditation, healthy food, and rest. It's a more laid-back experience compared to trekking.
- Accommodations and Meals Included: Unlike trekking, retreats provide accommodation, meals, and wellness services as part of the package. Everything is taken care of so you can focus purely on your practice and relaxation.
- Less Physical Activity: Retreats usually involve gentle yoga, meditation, and mindfulness activities. There may be nature walks or excursions, but there is no physically demanding hiking like in trekking.

Summary of Differences

- Trekking: A guided adventure combining hiking and yoga. It's physically demanding and focuses on exploring remote areas. Accommodation and meals are typically not included.
- Courses: Structured learning experiences focusing on deepening your yoga practice and teaching skills, usually in a stable, classroom-like environment.
- Retreats: Immersive yoga and wellness experiences focusing on relaxation, personal growth, and rejuvenation, with accommodations and meals included.

Each of these experiences offers something unique depending on your goals—whether you're seeking adventure, learning, or relaxation.

- What word should we use to for the page that will have profiles of key teachers like Devika Gurung and Shyam Gurung, with their expertise and background. Avoid confusion with "teachers" who are graduates of the teacher training program? Could we have a Person object that includes name, photo, description and could be used for both Testimonials and Instructors? What about Perem who is a tour guide?

    - We decided on Instructors.

- What is the Nepali Women's Trust? Why does it belong on the site? Shouldn't it live on a separate site of its own?
    - Spent a lot of time, empowering women and training massage therapists. Whenever we do Yoga Trekking, social impact. This could live on the Who We Are page. Devika refreshes training when she visits. Trying to support Women, big part of the business…
- Where is the original, high-res photography that could be used for Retina images?
    - Hamilton is going to gather photos. I've shared an Apple Shared Album to add these photos. I've also put in what I could gather from the website.

- Do we need a website if most of the guests come through Facebook? Could a Facebook site suffice? (Pros:This is simpler and more natural for Devika to maintain. She knows how to use it. Cons: people without a Facebook account can't access. I'm assuming Facebook doesn't offer e-commerce.)

- People trust websites more than Facebook. Need to have a website to establish trust.

- Who can fix the SSL certificate? This is what a new visitor sees in FF, for example:
- They try to look at website but many people don't trust it.

- Hamilton has fixed this issue, yay!

- Can we get access to the domain name? Need SSL, domain renewals, and will ultimately need to point the domain at a new target.
- cpanel access
- fauxreel@gmail.com
- 80341387

- In order to make the DNS switch, we'll need to change the primary domain on Hamilton's HostGator account.

- Do we need e-commerce or could we just collect leads through a simple form?
    - If we need e-commerce, who's going to manage, respond, pay, etc.

- A lot of people would use it. Then Hamilton wouldn't need to get involved with transferring payments. Go directly to Devika's. There's PayPal, Shopify, Stripe.

- In the past, when the cert was valid. Brought in leads. Never set up a payment portal because of the Nepali banking system. I still take PayPal payments and then move money 3x.

- Western Union was how to pay in the past. Also MoneyGram. Rio.

VEDIC SOUND BOWL HEALING COURSE. (Level 1, Certification)

Modern healing with sound bowls is still in its infancy but how did it develop?
Easy access to Nepal, and India from the 1950s onward combined with the explosion of ancient Eastern healing practices (Yoga, Meditation, Tantra practice etc.) in the West allowed those with a desire to discover and combine some of these old practices with western knowledge and practice and bring them to a wider audience. This has led to modern sound and vibrational healing using crystal bowls, gongs and modern handmade brass ‘Singing ’bowls based on the old ‘Dabaka ’or brass cooking pots.

Ayurveda DETOX AND HEALING retreat

The Ayurvedic detox is based heavily on long-established precepts of Ayurvedic medicine. It divides the world into five elements — Vayu (air), Prithvi (earth), Teja (fire), Aakash (space), and Jala (water). Various combinations of each element are believed to form three humors, also known as doshas, which are responsible for different physiological functions in your body. The three doshas are vata, kapha, and pitta.

REIKI and SELF-HEALING COURSE

REIKI is based on the concept of an unseen "life force energy" that flows through all living things. Practitioners believe that by channeling this energy, they can help facilitate the body's natural healing processes.

SELF-HEALING refers to the body's natural ability to repair and restore itself after injury or damage, encompassing both physical and emotional well-being. It's a process of recovery motivated and directed by the individual, often involving both conscious effort and innate biological processes. This can include physical healing from injuries, as well as emotional healing from trauma or stress.

28days RESIDENTIAL YOGA TEACHER TRAINING
(HATHA/TANTRA/YIN/BUDDHISM)

Hatha yoga is a foundational branch of yoga that focuses on physical postures (asanas) and breathing techniques (pranayama) to achieve balance between the body and mind. The term "Hatha" is often interpreted as the union of "ha" (sun) and "tha" (moon), symbolizing the balance of opposing energies within. It's a broad term encompassing many popular yoga styles in the West, aiming to align and calm the body, mind, and spirit through physical practice.

Tantra yoga is an ancient spiritual practice rooted in the philosophy of Tantra, which originated in Nepal, India, Tibet, and other parts of Asia. It's a path that emphasizes harnessing energy to achieve spiritual growth and enlightenment through various practices. Tantra yoga integrates physical postures (asanas), breathing techniques (pranayama), meditation, and other practices to connect with one's inner self and the universe.

Yin Yoga is a slow-paced style of yoga that focuses on lengthening and softening the body's deep connective tissues, like ligaments and fascia. Poses are held for longer periods, often 3-5 minutes, allowing for a deeper stretch and a meditative state. It differs from more active yoga styles that focus on muscle strength.

Introduction to Meditation and Chakra philosophy

Meditation

Meditation is a practice that involves training your mind to focus and redirect your thoughts, leading to a state of calm, clarity, and enhanced awareness. It's a mind-body technique that can help reduce stress, anxiety, and improve overall well-being. Meditation can be done in various ways, including focusing on the breath, a mantra, or an object, or by practicing mindfulness

Chakra

The chakra system provides a way of understanding life that incorporates yoga, Ayurvedic medicine, and tantra philosophy. In sanskrit, chakra is the word for wheel, and each wheel is thought of as a spinning concentration, or vortex, of energy. Traditionally, there are seven chakra-s arranged vertically from the base of the spine to the top of head. The lower three chakra-s [muladhara, Svadhisthana, and Manipura] pertain to our relationship to the material world, our sexuality, and our sense of self. These chakra-s foster our ideas about who we are and are linked to our self esteem and personal magnetism. The products of these chakra-s become stored as feelings in Anahata, our heart chakra, which then influences our emotions, relationships with others, and ability to surrender to life. The heart chakra is at the center of the chakra system and is responsible for integrating the lower and upper chakra-s, ot the world of matter and the world of the spirit.

Introduction to Pranayama and Bandha

Pranayama- Its generally defined as breath control. Although this interpretation may seem correct in view of the practices involved, it does not convey the full meaning of term. Just as the word yoga is one of wide import, is also prana. Prana means breath, respiration, life, vitality, wind, energy or strength. The word pranayama is comprised of two roots: ' prana' plus 'ayama'. Prana means 'vital energy' or ' life force'. It is the force which exists in all things, whether animate or inanimate. Although closely related to air we breathe, it is subtler than air or oxygen. Therefore, pranayama should not be considered as mere breathing exercises aimed at introducing extra oxygen into the lungs. Pranayama utilizes breathing to influence the flow of prana in the nadis or energy channels of the pranamaya kosha or energy body.

Bandha

In the context of yoga, bandha is referring to a "bond," "fetter," or "lock". It describes a yogic technique involving the contraction and closure of specific areas of the body to control and direct the flow of vital energy, or prana. These energy locks, or binds, are believed to affect the body's energetic systems, including the nervous system, circulatory system, and endocrine system.

Devika Gurung was born in Jomsom, Nepal and gained her inspiration to practice yoga from an Australian yoga teacher couple when she was 18 years old, in 1997 she went to Kathmandu and obtained diplomas in Hatha yoga and Ayurvedic massage and health food management. Later, in 2000, she founded the Nepali Yoga Center in Lakeside, Pokhara. The center is

In 2001 Devika traveled to India and undertook a further Hatha Yoga Instructor course at the Indian Yoga Institute. From 2007 she has traveled extensively in Europe, for up to several months each year, immersing herself into the local cultures, sharing her experiences of yoga and other cultures and leading workshops in local yoga communities.

Devika's life changed forever in 2003 when she became severely ill. Unable to overcome from the sickness by using western and alternative medicine! In 2009, a health crisis led Devika to find her own healing and discover rising kundalini shakti, and shamanic healing. She sees yoga as a union with the divine and with our inner-self. By way of inner spiritual growth, she experienced self-healing and now shares her knowledge with the world. She now lives in Carbondale, CO with her husband and two children.

Normally everyone learns the same technique for the same health issues while the root cause of an individual's health problem is not the same for everyone. This technique focuses on the different body parts through Yogasana, Meditation, Pranayama, and exploration of the different Mantra, Mudra, Marma point, Chakra, and Nadi to find the blocked energy and release it. This work will help you learn each momentary change. In this way, you will learn what you specifically need. This self-healing is derived directly from Devika's own healing experience. Discover the power of how the subtle bodies of energy can heal!

personal and teaching practice he attended a 150hrs 1st level Hatha Yoga teacher training in India (2011 - Agama Yoga). Recognizing the global nature of yoga, and the need for standardized teaching practice he did his first RYT200 teacher training (Yoga Alliance) in Nepal, at Earth Yoga in 2015. Shyam blends his knowledge of the old cultures of Nepal, the traditions of Hatha practice and modern ideas on yoga into his unique teaching style. He is now a senior teacher at Himalayan Yogini, is mainly involved in RYT200 teacher training, leading retreats, and truly embraces the yogic lifestyle.
The center also often has visiting teachers in residence to complement Shyam and offer different styles of yoga to the students. Lately he's been extensively travelling in Asia for conducting the short courses and workshops.

At 12 years old he joined a local monastery in the Nyingma tradition and spent 7 years in Jomsom with the monks before then moving to Kathmandu at the age of 20. Interestingly and unusually he switched traditions to the Geluk tradition and attended Kopan Monastery. To deepen his knowledge, he also studied Tibetan language while studies of Buddhism. He was able to put his language skills to good use by translating for Tibetan Spiritual Teachers in their interactions with the people from the high mountain areas. This eventually led him to pursue his doctorate studies at the monastery by studying Prajnaparamita (perfection of wisdom) and then partly finishing his studies of Madhyamika (Middle way - roots of emptiness). His life then took a different turn in and in 2015he found himself back to at the family Ashram in Pokhara After some much needed time out from the rigors of monastic and spiritual life he then persued his Hatha Yoga 200hours teacher training. Feeling a need to connect and share his deep knowledge to others he also took a sound healing course and more recently has jumped back into teaching. Mangal now teaches chakra meditation as part of the TTY200 at Himalayan Yogini, energetic self healing (developed by his sister Devika), gives therapy sessions with a form of Reiki healing he has developed using the power of deity mantras, shares his Buddhist knowledge through a Buddhism short course and teaches Sound Healing with his brother Shyam.

Surendra (Asana teacher (Ashatanga/Hatha/Yin)

Surendra was born in Mustang, Nepal. Observing monks from the local monastery visiting his family house and he became fascinated with life as a monk. In Mustang traditionally the middle son becomes a monk. Following this tradition, at age of 7, he joined the monk-hood. He lived the monks life for 7 years, then choosing to leave the monastery to pursue life outside, studying Sociology at university in Pokhara. Encouraged by Devika and Shyam to study Yoga and he did his first 200 hour teacher training in 2016 with Himalayan Yogini, mainly specializing in traditional Hatha Yoga. Being guided and taught by Shyam he soon moving into guiding daily asana classes and improving his teaching skill. After some year of absence from teaching he now is embracing the Yogic path and bringing it's practice into his daily life. In 2019, he got his first exposure in Ashtanga yoga which spoke to him deeply. He now guides classes in Traditional Hatha, gentle Ashtanga flow and Yin yoga.

She studied Buddhism in the local Tibetan school and furthered her studies in India at a Tibetan school founded by the Dalai Lama's sister and received classes from the Dalai Lama. She also studied with him in 2008,2009 and 2010. For many years Pema has worked behind the scenes at Himalayan Yogini and has played an active role in ensuring the food served daily is tailored to each student and is life supporting Yogic Ayurveda food. In recent years, understanding that many people suffer with back problems and aches and pains and encouraged by Shyam to go further into healing Pema has been inspired move more into healing. She studied Ayurveda massage in 2020 in Kathmandu. She now actively provides and teaches Ayurvedic massage

Praddeep
Ayurveda practitioner Born near Baglung, to the west of Pokhara young Pradeep would look to the Himalaya in amazement and wonder how he could reach up to them. Moving to Pokhara at age 16 he started his studies of Ayurveda at Nepal Sanskrit University. Furthering his study he achieved a degree in healthcare management at Pokhara University. He then continued to study for a masters Yogic Science at Tribhuvan University Kathmandu. After his Masters he was called to work in government Ayurveda hospitals, a calling with continues to this day. Some years ago, his childhood dreams to reach the high Himalaya were realized when he started his first job as an Ayurveda and health practitioner in Kagbeni Ayurveda Health Centre in Mustang. He was impressed with the pure mindedness of the people, immediately forming a deep connection with them and the many Monks of the area. He felt he wanted to give back to the community, in service, pure Karma Yoga, which he did many times over the years. More recently, working at Begnas Ayurveda Hospital near Pokhara he meet Shyam and he was taken back to his early days working with the people in Mustang.
